“Temple University School of Podiatric Medicine is approved by the Council on Podiatric Medical Education as a provider of continuing education in podiatric medicine. Temple University School of Podiatric Medicine has approved this activity for a maximum of 4 continuing education contact hours.”

“No commercial interest provided financial support for this continuing education activity.”
GOALS & OBJECTIVES

1. To understand the Pathomechanics of Hallux limitus and Hallux Valgus.

2. To understand the Pathomechanics of plantar fasciitis.

3. To use evidence based literature to understand the mechanical Pathology of these conditions.

4. To know how to prescribe the best orthoses for specific conditions based on understanding the Pathology.

5. To understand the types of foot imaging scanners used to construct orthotics compared to Negative impression plaster casting.

6. To present a paradigm of gait and gait dysfunctions, based on known Natural Mechanical Principles.

7. To demonstrate how these principles can be applied to understanding gait and its’ potential dysfunctions.

8. Introduce that these mechanical parameters are “measureable” and therefore can be used to evaluate Gait dysfunctions and hence, provide introductory thoughts on possible alternative venues to treat them.
